ONTARIO LADY DONATES ORGAN TO CHRIST CHURCH

To still further enhance the beauty of the new Christ Church, the Bishop of Athabasca during his visit to Grande Prairie over the week-end made the announcement that a fine organ, electrically operated, had been given to the parish by a lady in Ontario. It is a magnificent electric blower and fan, and will fit in the organ chamber built for that purpose.

Further Gifts
The vestry on the south side of the church has been converted into a small chapel for mid-week services. This has been made possible by the gift of a small altar table and cross from one of the members of the congregation. At the main door must have been placed, also gifts to the congregation.

KENTUCKY NIMROD PLEASED WITH RESULT OF HIS HUNT

Dr. M. L. Barnes of Louisville, Kentucky, who was here on a big game hunt, left last Friday for home. The doctor expressed himself as being highly pleased with the "shoot." Among his trophies were a common bear, which resembled a grizzly, thought by some to be a cross; a black bear; a moose and a deer. He also secured a number of wild game fish and stated that he would be back again next year.

Mrs. D. O. Carroll, Grande Prairie, was re-elected president of the Catholic Women's League for the Diocese of Grande Prairie at the annual convention held at the home of Mrs. Alexander, Buffalo, on Wednesday afternoon, October 4. O'Connell, Grande Prairie, Secretary-treasurer.

Reaffirming the resolution passed at the national convention, which was held in Winnipeg in July, 1935, the diocesan convention went on record as follows:

"Be it resolved that we, the Catholic Women's League of Canada, are prepared to join in the ranks of service, each and all of us, according to our ability, will do what lies in our strength and training to mitigate the miseries of war and hasten the day when peace shall be restored."

In his address Rev. Father McKenna of St. Joseph's Church, Grande Prairie, spoke on the resolution and urged the presence of women for any war service or registration decided upon by our country in this time of conflict without delay.

He also gave an interesting account of the life of the Little Flower (St. Theresa), who early showed a great love for the poor and the sick. He also mentioned the work of the Little Flower in the United States.

Activities of C.W.L. in organizing were reported on by Mrs. J. Fitzpatrick, who reported on the study club by Mrs. J. Charters, social services by Mrs. J. Boyle, and the work of the organization in the parish and for the greater whole.

Canada To Become Empire's Air Force Training Centre

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Dealing editorially with the wonderful expansion of the British Air Force, which is not yet equal to Hitler's in number, The Times points out that Canada is about to become a great Empire centre for training pilots and manufacture of aircraft in complete security from enemy attacks.

Scale of production in the United Kingdom already is enormous, and daily—even hourly—expanding. British fighters are known to be superior to Goering's much advertised machines, and the same is true of French aircraft.

"No action of the enemy can now prevent the air forces of the Empire from gathering and maintaining an overwhelming strength," says The Times.

The German air force can do no damage now except at fearful cost, and whatever damage it may inflict will be made good by an inexhaustible source of skilled and freshly equipped reserves, uninjured and beyond injury. A vast new weight has been thrown on the Allies' side into the scale of air power.

BRITAIN HAS SENT 178,000 MEN

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Britain has transported to France 178,000 men and 45,000 vehicles in the first five weeks of the war, Leslie Howe Bellish reported Wednesday.

Local and General

Miss Hazel Melnick, on the staff of the Royal Bank at Spirit River, who spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Melnick, returned to Spirit River on Wednesday.

O. D. Haugen of Winnipeg was a passenger on Friday's train, en route to Edmonton to visit relatives. He will return to Winnipeg in a week's time, accompanied by his wife, who has been visiting in the Valley for the past month.

Mrs. George Brown of Albright is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Rex Harper, having arrived on Tuesday's train.

Mrs. W. J. Thomson and Mrs. L. Kewensky left on Friday's train to attend a meeting of the Women's Institute at Edmonton.

Dunc. Chisholm, representing Ogilvie Flour, left Grande Prairie by car for Edmonton. Dunc. stated that he expected to make it all right, as his trusty old car had gone over worse roads and landed him safely.

G. Savage, with the B.C. Tree Fruit Limited, after covering this district, left for Edmonton on Friday's train.

LATEST NEWS FLASHES

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Prime Minister Chamberlain is expected to answer with a flat and decisive "no" Hitler's peace intrigues when he speaks in the Commons Thursday. The war cabinet has considered the whole continued political situation, examined Hitler's so-called peace terms in detail, consulted the dominions and French governments closely, and as a result, will make clear through the Premier's declaration that no peace proposals can be accepted that do not exactly free Europe from the menace of aggression and ensure that whatever pledges may be given by any German government in future will be guaranteed against repudiation.

FINLAND TAKING PRECAUTIONS

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Finland, fearing Stalin is to make demands for the Åland Islands, including perhaps the Åland Islands in the Baltic, has taken war precautions.

Death Claims Anna Dortha Hanson At Valhalla Centre

Born in Norway, (Came To The Valhalla District In 1913 By Way Of The Esau Trail—Was Active In All Community Efforts—Valhalla Lutheran Church Filled To Overflowing At Funeral Service.

VALHALLA CENTRE, Oct. 9.—The host of friends of Anna Dortha Hanson, beloved wife of Simon Hanson of Valhalla Centre, were shocked and saddened to learn of her sudden death last Wednesday, October 4. Mrs. Hanson had been in poor health for a considerable length of time, and she suffered a stroke, however, her progress toward recovery had been so favorable that her family and friends hoped for a complete return to health. This was not to be, for on Wednesday evening she had another stroke and died about one hour later. Mrs. Hanson had passed to her eternal home.

Anna Dortha Sturle was born November 29, 1879, at Storli, Dyrø, Norway. She came to Canada with her husband and family in 1913, to reside in the Esau district of Valhalla Centre. In 1917, they moved to the Peace River district, coming in over the Esau Trail by horse and wagon. She had been married to her husband for 20 years.

A recommendation will advise that a work and membership committee be added. Farm Lands In Old Ontario Offered At Very Low Price

According to Dave Ramsey of Beaver Lodge, who with Mrs. Ramsey arrived here from a trip to Ontario and several points in Michigan, which the offer of farm lands in Ontario can be bought very cheap.

Seen by The Herald-Tribune reporter at the Grande Prairie railway station, Mr. Ramsey stated that he had seen 2000 offers for farm buildings on which were valued at $8,000, for $4,000.

Asked why land was being offered at such a low price, Mr. Ramsey stated that the young people refused to farm and the old people were trying to get from under.

BISHOP SOVEREIGN GIVES VERY INSPIRING SERVICE AT MASON'S ANNUAL SERVICE

On Sunday evening last, October 8, at 7:30, the members of the Grande Prairie and district Masonic lodges gathered to the church for their annual service. The church was filled to overflowing and the special service for the evening was given by Rev. A. H. Sovereign, D.D., Bishop of Athabasca. The Bishop took as his text the 19th verse of the 21st chapter of Revelation—"The length, breadth, and the height of it are equal."

In his address the Bishop pointed out that many of us have not been all one-sided but the length of his life or the aim should be towards God. He said that the aim should be to be a man of God, and that the aim should be to be a man of God.

THE GATEWAY'S ANNIVERSARY
NUMBER MOST CREDITABLE

In its thirtieth anniversary number
The Gateway, the official publication of the Students' Union of the University of Alberta, those in charge produced a paper which is a credit to the University and to the typographic art.

From a make-up standpoint the type arrangement is well balanced, the printing clear and distinct, while the various news items are well written and the various articles are a high order.

The number, which contains fourteen pages, gives the issue a most striking and pleasing appearance.

We compliment the Gateway staff on their excellent effort.

RUSSIA PULLS A FAST ONE

In the European mess it would appear that Russia is the nation that has "pulled a fast one."

Getting her fair share of Poland, and now penetrating the Baltic states, which countries are powerless to resist her, Russia is making herself secure, not against Britain and France, but against Germany. In fact, underneath the diplomatic surface, Russia is in conflict with Germany in the game of grab and to secure her western front.

Will Russia assist Germany against Britain and France? Is the subject of speculation among the nations of the world. The question is: Why should Russia rush her armies to the western front when she is getting everything she wants without firing a shot?

Hitler is evidently ignoring Massoudini and has turned to Russia in his desperation. If Russia refuses to be drawn into the conflict—and at this distance it looks as though she will not make the venture—then Hitler's play has failed.

Sidetracked as the other party to the Rome-Berlin axis, if Duce cannot help but see the play and will also hesitate before going to the aid of Hitler.

When Hitler annexed Austria, that brought the German boundary down to the Italian frontier. With central Europe under the control of Germany, Italy would eventually be a vassal state of Germany. The Italian dictator cannot help but understand this.

In the present set up it would seem that Hitler is in a tight spot. With mounting debts, a long war is what he does not want and is anxious for a quick decision and will, if necessary, hazard all by flinging his armies against Britain and France.

The Great War was a war of attrition. The Allies had access to the foodstuffs and war material. This was the final determining factor in that historic struggle, and with the German merchant marine already swept from the seas, it will be a deciding factor in the present struggle.

Along the Trail
By J. B. YULECOIN OF REALM LACKING TO CARRY OUT CONSTRUCTIVE SUGGESTION

The other day I was talking to a group of friends when another friend joined the party. The newcomer delivered himself as follows:
"We are engaged in a war, and now we have a foot of snow at a time when the sun should be shining in all its glory on the beetles and carrots. On top of this I am suffering from the 'flu' in an advanced stage."

Continuing, he observed: "Under the depressed conditions of the war for me to do is to lie myself to yonder vendor and purchase some inspiration in liquid form."

A motion recommending the suggestion was carried unanimously.
Asked why he tarried, the man suffering from the "flu" replied that he was sorry that he could not put his desire into execution.

When asked the reason why, he replied that the added war tax on liquor, especially on the "cream of the healthier," had advanced the price to a point where it did not come within the orbit of his financial powers.

Following this statement there was great sadness.

Dad's Notions
By E. S. Stanley

I passed a German couple last night. They were standing on the highway in front of their home.
When I saw their faces I sensed the significance of their being there.

There stood the woman, eyes swimming, and mouth quivering when she spoke. The little boy, wide-eyed and gaping, looked up into his mother's face helplessly, and in seeming wonderment. The man, head hung, stood silent. It was near rain time. He had emitted.

Uncomfortable, I quickly mounted and wheeled on.

Imagination was awakened. Here was a German, only a few months naturalized, with a possibility of facing his own brother and father on the battlefield before the war is over.

He is leaving behind him his wife and two babies, as dear to him as my family is to me. Emotional, the situation uncorked the vials which he had stored up, and raised a lump in my throat that restricted my breathing.

I spoke of the case to another, and from the safe retreat of years he heartily replied, "Why shouldn't he enlist?"

"But what are YOU doing?" I asked.

"Nothing. I am too old."

And perhaps there are numbers like him, who look at the supreme sacrifice made by others and feelingly give, "Why not?" while they themselves give not a red cent, for instance, to the Red Cross.

They could curtail a harmful indolence; forego a cost of certain pleasures; make certain sacrifices to make it easier and safer for those at the front—but they do not.

We've been having hard times, but desperate times have now arrived.
Ignoring our urgent cause, we have lived and whiled away our time, but now a mighty task has rolled upon us. Long have we passively and suddenly cherished our ideals, but our inaction is ended by the tidal wave of inhumanity which is sweeping toward us. Greatly did we appreciate the exclusion of each to the exclusion of others; but now, to save ourselves from the deluge, we must throw up a mighty dyke with human lives as material.

Men are leaving their sweethearts and fathers their babies behind; and we—oh, knaves!—while not doing a thing, complacently say, "Why not?"
They leap to the call of the bugle and step to the throbs of the drum.
At the shout of the captain they charge and are trepped by the enemy and end in liquid form.

Stirred by a trace of pity, we shall not do "well done." But fools we—nay, rogues! nay, worse than that—what have we done?

Some of our boys will return.
Others will not. I see a lad drop, laid low by a bullet. He writes in anguish, he is furnished by thirst, he prays for help, he craves release from death.

The Red Cross does its best, but it is not enough. It is not enough that they could eat each other.
He passes out, and the mother and babies are prostrate with grief. And but for the lack of help.

But for the lack of help, he might have lived! Nay, but for our selfishness! Indulgences, and in some cases, but for our selfishness, he might have lived! Oh! what if it not be so!

Come, ye loyal of the nation, let us curtail our smokes or quit them—spend less on movies and discard our liquor—let wholesome foods and well-planned work point our lips, tint our nails and give our cheeks the flush of health. Let's stop that cane-sucking and often harm.

Let's let our savings be real, our sacrifices be real, our pleasures be real. Let's let our savings be real, our sacrifices be real, our pleasures be
real. Let's let our savings be real, our sacrifices be real, our pleasures be real.

How would you like to live under a government control wherein every citizen would be assured of a high standard of living from birth to death? A governmental control wherein there would be no such things as politics, business and
money—with all their concomitant
evils, that is competition, generated by the profit motive, which breeds greed, selfishness, hatred, and
hence the various types of "rackets," robberies, murders and wars, all of which afflict society today.

Technocracy, by a simple scientific system of accurate measurement, offers the means whereby
such a governmental control may be enjoyed. In Technocracy there is no room for any of the features of Price System control—politics and business, with their money—the "root of all evil." In Technocracy, and only in Technocracy, will be found the unhindered mechanism for the production and equitable distribution of the abundance which this vast resource of this North American continent will permit, and at the same time for the abolishment of all the evils which arise from greed, selfishness and hatred, incident to Price System operation.

Let us consider two "incidents," connected with the present war, which demonstrate the possibilities secured within the past few months.
Each of these incidents were dictated by the rules of the game of Price System operation. A little over a year ago it was reported in a daily paper, which the writer read, that two days before Munich a ship-load of Canadian copper arrived at a German port. It is a safe bet that this copper was utilized in the manufacture of armaments. Armaments made from Canadian copper with which, at a later date, to kill or maim some Canadian mother's son!

This year, a little over a month ago, it was reported in a large Canadian weekly newspaper that Mr. Greenwood, member of the Labor party in England, confronted Mr. Chamberlain during a parliamentary session while on demand for an explanation of why the shipments of tons of metals from England to Germany had been allowed to be made just a week before Great Britain declared war on Germany. Mr. Chamberlain was reported to have replied to the effect that if England had not shipped these metals to Germany some other country would have, so in view of this fact, England was in a safe advantage of this business! The rules of the game of Price System operation! While on the subject, let us recall the armaments traffic. These things are no secrets any more and are being carried on in a very open manner. We have heard, but to no avail, the writer realizes the futility of only centuring any particular person or set of persons connected with these "incidents" of shipping the materials for war-making to potential enemies but she does wish to point out that the "incidents" along with thousands of other like ones, do serve to utterly damn Price System operation.

Howard Scott, director-in-chief of Technocracy Inc., is scheduled to speak at the Empire Theatre in Edmonton on Monday evening, October 23. Go and hear him explain some of the hard-hat facts concerning the existing chaotic economic and social conditions in which we are trying to live. Listen to his description of Technocracy's plan whereby we may attain peace, security, peace and happiness. Meet him personally and talk with him if you wish—all the conclusion of his address.

A great destiny awaits North America. Think out our very great natural advantages—geographic isolation from the ages-old racial, political and religious hatreds peculiar to the European and Asiatic countries; abundant natural resources, installed productive and distributive equipment and technical knowledge!
What a challenge to us! America

Technocracy
By C. A. Clegg

How would you like to live under a governmental control wherein
every citizen would be assured of a
high standard of living from birth
to death? A governmental control
wherein there would be no such
things as politics, business and
money—with all their concomitant
evils, that is competition, generated
by the profit motive, which breeds
greed, selfishness, hatred, and
hence the various types of "rackets,"
robberies, murders and wars, all of
which afflict society today.

Technocracy, by a simple scientific system of accurate measurement, offers the means whereby
such a governmental control may be
enjoyed. In Technocracy there is no room for any of the features of Price
System control—politics and business, with their money—the "root of
all evil." In Technocracy, and only in Technocracy, will be found the

DEMMITT, Oct. 9.—Dave Brad-come in on the train Friday. Dave has enlisted in the Canadian army.
This makes three enlistments at least from the Demmitt area, and when there is more there is scarcely a family hereabouts, that is not doing too badly.

Miss Lillian Carscadden, Girls' Work secretary for Alberta, visited the district on Friday and was en-tained by the C.G.I.T. group here in the school-house. In exchange she told the girls of some of her experiences with groups in various parts of the province and contributed a few wrinkles to the local group for future use. Mrs. Wm. Richardson heads up the work in this district.

TEEPEE CREEK

TEEPEE CREEK, Oct. 6.—The children and teachers are having a holiday today.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. House and two sons, Laverne and Glen, from Barons, Alberta, have been visiting for the last few days at the home of Mrs. L.
M. Love, Mrs. House being her sister, whom she had not seen in 14 years.
They returned home yesterday on account of the youngest boy's health.
The climate here did not agree with him.

Miss Irene Nelson was a visitor at her home today, coming out with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bailey from Grande Prairie.

Harold Love and family were guests last Sunday at his mother's,
Mrs. L. M. Love.

Mr. House and family, Miss Ashley and Mrs. Love were Grande Prairie visitors on October 7 also.
Geo. Love, Laverne House and Raymond Ray all took in the show that night.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bailey were super guests at the home of Mrs. L.
M. Love tonight.

Most everyone is busy now getting in the vegetables since the snow is gone. It surely looked as if winter was upon us, but hope not yet for a while.

We hear that wedding bells will soon be ringing in Riverton.
Mrs. Mary Grant and little daughter, who is almost a year old, were Mr. Grant's parents at Bear Lake.

Mr. Frank Adams' five-month-old baby was buried in the new cemetery on Monday, October 2, Rev.
E. Rand officiating at the funeral.
We didn't learn any particulars.

PRESENT-DAY LIFE IN ENGLAND
(World copyright reserved) PIPESTONE CREEK, Oct. 9.—Our London Letter from Miss Audrey Watts, a former visitor to the Peace River country and now on the staff of the London County Council schools.

The Black Swan,
Walsham, England,
September 14, 1939.

Dear Poor D.—Homesteaders:
Please note my address. Quite a suitable place to recuperate after a long stay in the "old world." I am now residing in a "house" of "tensands and tensands" of children from London, I have been very fortunate in my billet, as the publican's wife is a chef-trained cook, so we are eating well as far as grub is concerned.

Overhead, though, there are ten soldiers billeted in the attic and unfortunately they have forgotten to bring their bed-room slippers, so we are awakened every morning at 6.30.
However, we go to bed very early—usually about 10.30. I am considering taking to drink and eat shall order gin brought to me in dark every morning. You will, of course, be wondering what's happened, so I must get back to the beginning.

I had been spending the last part of my holidays at a delightful village near Bridport in Dorset. I was recalled to London on August 24. All the children had to report at school daily. Sunday included, pending evacuation. Finally we had to leave at 18 hours' notice with the least amount of baggage possible. All mine was in a pack that you used in the last war. It was a marvelous organization—over 2,000,000 people were evacuated from London in three days. Everyone had to report at school at 7.30 a.m. The children were all labelled and finally left school at 8.30 a.m. and entered at the nearest station. Not even the school principals knew where the train was going, but apparently someone else did, for when we reached Norwich accommodation on buses for every individual child was ready to take them to pre-arranged billetts throughout the country. Every child had food for the day, a gas mask and a change of clothing. A very not day, but the children were simply splendid. After 14 hours on the train we reached Norwich, where tea was dished out and everybody was given a bag with food for 48 hours. Every child had a tin of bully beef, packet of chocolate, one pound of biscuits, and tin of milk.

Teachers the same, only two tins of bully.

There is a charming little market town 15 miles N.E. of Norwich and only five miles from the sea—Blyth, already been "to see the rats" twice, but was unable to bathe as the minimum baggage did not include a bathing suit.

There is no centre here for me to teach cookery, so I am acting as a sort of school quartermaster and distributor. See the children in their billetts and find out which of them need clothes—some have hardly any—cope with the laundry ones and so on. There are over 800 London children here, so the local children and evacuees in the afternoon. In the morning the Londoners go for walks, learn something about the country-side and make themselves useful by picking blackberries.

I had to rush down to London during the week-end to collect stuff from school. It was an amazing experience. The whole of London was surrounded by a barrage of balloons, each tied to the ground by thick cables, making a most impressive barrier against enemy aircraft to penetrate. If they got above the balloons, they lost within range of our anti-aircraft guns.

After sundown London is black—even the underground trains—one is liable to sit on anyone's knee by mistake, the lights seem to dim.

Preparations for any eventuality are in evidence every step of the way in London. It is quite impossible to miss your way to the nearest air raid shelter. The houses are all uniform feet pointing out the direction. Seeing all these things in uniform again, I have almost wished myself back on the job again; there seem to be hundreds of emergency ambulance station girls in uniform at the wheel—the engines are running.

Uncle Walter goes to his club on a bicycle; it isn't done to travel by car any more. The house I am in the bicycle, wheels came up the steps and solemnly placed it by the side of dozens of others in the rota.

Have just had the following from Folkestone:

"On Wednesday morning we woke at 9 a.m. and hearing the air raid hooter, quickly dressed. The hooter washing, made the tea and quickly put the gas out. Preparing to go below. Mother asked, 'Oh, Tilly, there's that poor Miss Jenkins! She's quite dead and will not have heard the warning.' So Tilly, wearing her gas mask, dashes upstairs to Miss Jenkins' room, leans over her in bed, and shakes her (who might have slept so peacefully through).

"When I told John Stainer, he said: 'Did she live?' Well, we don't know yet, cos she's still in the hospital, poor old dear."

"All quite terribly tragic, really, cos the air raid alarm went at 7 a.m.
that morning while we were sleeping peacefully and the noise we heard at 8 a.m. was the all-clear."

Everyone you know seems to be doing something. Charlie Browne got his M.C. leading a charge of Strathcona's Horse at Cambrai. Is an air raid warning, Olive dropped in to tell us this news the other day, and their eldest boy, who can't be a bit more than 17, has just been made a sergeant. An old lady sent for Charlie (he had to go some miles) and when he got there said: "What am I to do because I am in my air raid shelter?"

Betty is running a first aid post at Sidcup. Lawrence is torn between house or mechanical transport. When he goes Marjorie will try to rent a house at Southborough and go to London to help Tilly, as so many of his men are popping off to the war.
He has been tearing his hair out trying to find enough dark material to cover the windows of upmarket shopping and has been obliged to paste brown paper over them in many cases as a temporary black-out measure. There is a possibility that his linguistic ca-

new word) abilities will be needed on a mission to Russia, and if this happens, who the deuce is going to take his place in London?

I have heard from Folkestone that it is considered a "safe" place and that there are 8,000 children collected there. Brenda will not be returning to the Experimental Farm at Otford, Kent, trying for war work at Folkestone, where she will be able to keep an eye on Mother.

Timely Hints From the Beaverlodge Sub-Station

By W. D. Albright

"IT IS A PLEASURE AS WELL AS A DUTY TO SERVE"

Hillside replete in their autumn cloth of gold. Were sheathed by winter's mantle in October's early cold. All things their time, as round the season's roll. Who always does his best contents his soul.

A helpful means of checking incipient winter soil-lifting on fall-plowed fields is to leave an occasional red-wide strip of stubble unturned.

A drum of gas saved on the farm may be another drum for our protecting aeroplanes. Eight horses are pulling a three-bottomed engine gang and doing a good job.

It looks as though a great reduction may be expected next year in the population of red-backed ruturns in those districts where they were so very abundant in 1939.

Courage discounts danger. Timidity magnifies it. The bather who wets his feet boldly does not mind the chill so much as the goose-fleshed mortal shivering on the brink.

Forty degrees Fahrenheit seems to be a low enough temperature for the storage of eating potatoes. Lower ones induce the change from starch to sugar. Even a little warmer temperature than 40 degrees is deleterious if sprouting can be prevented. Dryness and ventilation are helpful in preventing it.

Sour cherry, apple, elderberry, squash and pumpkin pies were among the season's desserts made from home products. Local crab apples proved more popular on the market than "outside" ones. Plums were the only local fruit at a discount. A few raspberries and ever-bearing strawberries were picked in October. It looked like Eden—for a while.

Let autumn cultivation be done as much as possible on the contour, to check wash, and as much as possible across the direction of prevailing winds, to check soil drifting. Avoid a final stroke of cultivator down the headland of a contour-cultivated field. Gullies sometimes start from the grooves thus created; and unnecessary sheet erosion is always to be expected.

If this war brings about an acute labor shortage, as the last one did, many things may run at loose ends, entailing loss and extra work at a future date. Let us do our very best to hold the ground we have gained, keeping weeds from seeding, fences, buildings and implements in repair, seed clean and so on. Neglect has to be paid for.

Experience finally establishes the agricultural practice of a district, but in an untried region many risky by-paths are sought before the safe highway is found and followed. One of the points we shall probably learn in the North is that it pays to be content with the moderate yields of medium-early varieties of grain, if only to increase the chances of early harvest and timely dispatch of the fall work.

In city homes across Canada and a good part of the United States people huddle each winter as hot-house launds, sitting themselves whenever compelled to go out in a storm. Contrast with them the range horses, or even the hardened soldiers who must face what daily comes along. The author of this column minded the cold much less and was healthier in his pioneer days than now when habitually confined to the office. When the first snow storm broke suddenly on the night of October fourth he pulled himself out of bed at 4 a.m. in order to take certain emergency precautions in stable and greenhouse. It was no particular pressure facing the gale in the dark to split kindling outdoors, but once out and busy one does not mind it so much after all and the next day he feels better for the experience.

Harvest Home A fine harvest season has been followed by very trying weather during the threshing season. August, with a mean temperature of 60.63° Fahrenheit, was about two and a half above normal, had a high temperature of 80.8° on the 10th and an official low of 38.8° on the 30th. The precipitation of 1.94 inches was a little above the average for the month and fell in 11 days, but the 33.8 hours of bright sunshine were 19.23 hours above the 15-year August average. It was the sunniest of the past 17 Augusts. The mean velocity averaged 9.47 miles per hour, against 8.55, the average for three preceding Augusts. Warm, dry harvest weather prevailed until the night of the 28th, when rain amounting to nearly an inch was followed by showers bringing the week's total to 1.44 inches. Perhaps 70 to 80 per cent of the cutting remained undone when the weather broke. For the next fortnight harvest proceeded by fits and starts, with little threshing accomplished during that time. The next week was somewhat better, but repeatedly as the grain was about ready to be threshed another untimely shower would come. During the week ending September 23 separation was rushed under favorable conditions, the grain testing dry for several days. On the night of Friday, 22nd, work was interrupted by a sprinkle at Beaverlodge but resumed the next afternoon, only to be again interrupted. East and northeast the dry period held for two or three days longer. On Monday, 25th, it was estimated that threshing was 75 to 80 per cent done in the western half of the Grande Prairie district; 50 per cent in the eastern half, and 75 per cent north of the Peace on the Alberta side. In the British Columbia district it was not quite so far advanced. The catchy weather the last week of September was better for potato digging than for threshing and not too good for either.

During September there was a trace or more of precipitation on 20 days; and a hundredth of an inch or more on 10 days, the total being 2.02 inches, as against 1.76 inches, the average of 23 previous Septembers. Most of the rain came in showers that failed to percolate deeply. A goodly percentage was lost by sun and wind. In contrast to the mid-July rain, which soaked in and thus had a lasting effect.

The mean temperature in September was about normal and extreme were not marked. Frost visited gently. The first light one at the Substation was on September 15, when dahlias and cucurbits were singed a little. On that morning the official square minimum thermometer read 33.3° Fahrenheit, the grass minimum, 31.3°; the range, minimum at 10 a.m. (107 feet lower), 27°. The lowest official reading (on the hill) was 26.1° on the morning of the 13th. Sweet peas and roses were blooming at the close of the month. Sunshine was a little below normal. Wind velocity averaged 9.5 miles per hour, against 9.47 in the previous September. The average of 8.75 miles per hour.

This somewhat distressing review must be added a postscript with a sting in the tail. Roses continued to bloom for a few days in October and a little more grain was threshed, although the minimum temperature of 18.9° Fahrenheit by Thursday morning. The roses fell.

Garden Huckleberry An enclosing cluster of berries from a crop grown from seed given me last year and started in a window pot—Mrs. G.Y. Peace River, Alta. Mrs. Peace River is known as garden huckleberry and belongs to the tomato family. I believe the fruit is used in some sections for making what is known as tomato conserve or tomato jam. Personally I have never eaten this product, but some who have use it like it very much.

Six Hundred Bushels Potatoes Per Acre North of Arctic Circle Six hundred and five bushels of potatoes to the acre from a patch 30 feet square is reported September 18 by Wm. D. Clark of Thunder River, N.W.T., who, by the way, is now moving his farmstead locally up to River, where he used to live and where he has now purchased the Northern Traders' Plot. Leaving his son-in-law at Thunder River, Thunder River enters the Mackenzie at a point 70 to 80 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

"The season has been wonderful here," writes Mr. Clark. "I had a glorious crop of everything except turnips. The bugs cleaned them all to the roots."

Mr. Clark reports 750 pounds of potatoes off an area 30 feet square. If he allowed enough margin, this would be a record for potatoes per acre. He had a splendid crop of carrots and cauliflower. The Copenhagen Market cabbage headed 100 per cent. Two hundred and fifty head were to Akavik, 100 to Arctic Red River, and he still had 200 head for the use of three families. He had cucumbers right along after the middle of August and ripened some June. The season was two weeks earlier than any yet in his experience.

Barley sown May 27 headed June 20 and was cut August 2, dead ripe to the sheaves. The weather at the Substation was about the same time as the barley were cut August 12.

AERONAUTICAL TIT-BITS

By J. W. Neil

THE AIR FORCE OF TODAY

One of the most remarkable things in the history of aviation was a development of the Royal Air Force between 1919 and 1925, the development which made its subsequent growth possible. Between 1919 and 1925 there was no growth in terms of quantity. There were improvements in the quality of machines, enough accommodation at many stations remained much as it was in 1919. The R.A.F. of 1925 was a new service was compounded. They were not the same organization. But by 1919 the war was over, tension relaxed. Many of the finest officers had been killed in the war and many of the survivors, too independent of spirit wish to remain under martial discipline, were leaving to seek their fortunes in civil life. The R.A.F. of 1925 was a new service was compounded. They were not the same organization. But by 1919 the war was over, tension relaxed. Many of the finest officers had been killed in the war and many of the survivors, too independent of spirit wish to remain under martial discipline, were leaving to seek their fortunes in civil life.

The problem of discipline and esprit de corps in the R.A.F. is quite different from that in the older services. In the Navy and the Army the officers are leaders of their men, sharing the same risks, and in the case of the Navy, having undergone the same hard training. That makes things fairly simple. But in the R.A.F. the officers were at that time (with few exceptions) the only fighting men. The aircrewman was in the position of a servant. The private soldier transferring from an infantry regiment to the R.A.F. could not see the difference immediately. His new officers might be more friendly, but they were only his masters, not his leaders. When he became an aircrewman he ceased to be a soldier and became a workman. He lost cast in his own eyes.

Through these difficult years the R.A.F. maintained a good front to the world and gained in prestige. The brilliant group of officers who organized those never-to-be-surpassed early R.A.F. pageants from 1920 onwards showed the public and the Pull Motor Clubmen that the R.A.F. was flying was improving and a good standard for the rest of the service. Flight-Lieutenant Wombell, a most brilliant drill instructor, had the handling of every newly enlisted man for a few weeks, and gave nearly all of them an improved physique and a pride in their service which never left them. Another factor was the championship of Mr. C. G. Gregg of The Aeroplane, who instead of making the caustic criticisms he is so capable of, praised the R.A.F. not always when praise was due, but when it was likely to become due, with the result that officers and men pulled up their socks and tried to live up to his estimate of them. While this facade was being maintained, real improvement was going on. Trained mechanics were entering squadrons from Halton and from the men's technical schools, trained officers were emerging from Cranwell and the flying schools, education officers were at work, trade test boards were sifting out the good and bad workmen, and a staff college was opened. All this was being done while the R.A.F. was doing difficult jobs of work in the outlying parts of the Empire, and doing them well.

Mr. Shepherd, in his book, "The Face of Today," tells of the results of those labors. During the last few years he has had more opportunities for observing the R.A.F. in the Empire and at home, and he is better able than most people to write of what he sees. The first four chapters deal with the history of the R.A.F., R.F.C. and the duties officers. Then there was the rather more difficult problem of the first class pilot, equally necessary to the R.A.F., who had never learned how to be an officer, such as the Flight-Lieutenant and Adjutant who were heard to enquire the whereabouts of the Commanding Officer by remarking to a corporal in the presence of some men, "Is the old man in his office?"

There was also faulty administration. In 1919 one heard that demobilized men had taken three-ton trucks home with them, and there was the case of an aircrewman who absented himself from camp all the week and only turned up on pay-parade. The correction of those abuses (or, if you like, the withdrawal of those privileges) was a little over-administration, so that in 1922 it took six months to get a lock on a cupboard housing several hundred pounds' worth of property, though by then the lock was hardly needed.

Through these difficult years the R.A.F. maintained a good front to the world and gained in prestige. The brilliant group of officers who organized those never-to-be-surpassed early R.A.F. pageants from 1920 onwards showed the public and the Pull Motor Clubmen that the R.A.F. was flying was improving and a good standard for the rest of the service. FAREWELL PARTY TO MR. AND MRS. JOHN POIRIER

LINDSAY, Oct. 3.—The friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Poirier (two numerous to mention) gathered at their place last Sunday to bid them adieu. The party was a surprise. The afternoon was spent playing cards and some horseshoe games. After a delicious supper the young folks danced a while. Being all busy people in this district, they all went home early, after singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Mr. and Mrs. Poirier are leaving on the Friday train to make their home in Wetaskiwin, where their daughter, Mrs. Skinner, resides. A dance will be held in the school-house on Friday, October 13.

A few threatening outfits are still humming in the district.

We are sorry to hear that our popular storekeeper is on the sick list. A speedy recovery to you, Pat.

WINDSOR CREEK

WINDSOR CREEK, Oct. 4.—Latest word received from the Willa brothers in Edmonton is that Harry Atkinson, one time of Windsor Creek, has joined up in the same company as they. Good luck, Harry. Your district wishes you the best.

Threshing has started again after a delay of a week. Everyone is in a hurry now, with one eye on the weather all the time.

Jack Willis has got himself a little car and intends to do a little bit of sightseeing before he leaves to join up with his brothers who have already gone.

A letter received from a large industrial town of England describes "black-outs" and gas mask drill. Also how the houses have to be prepared with a "gas-proof" room equipped with emergency first aid and food kits.

KERMIT ROOSEVELT TO AID ENGLAND

Kermit Roosevelt, son of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, may be the first son of an American president to change his nationality, according to a report from London. Roosevelt has become an official of the British Ministry of Shipping. Roosevelt fought in the British army during the World War.

KERMIT ROOSEVELT'S WIFE NOT SURPRISED

New York.—No surprise was expressed by Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt when informed of a report her husband, son of former President Theodore Roosevelt, would serve the Home Economics Department of Agriculture, made from food to know that with careful planning, advantageous buying and good cooking she could make wholesome meals for the family.

The dinner here suggested by the Home Economics Department of Agriculture, are made from foods, nourishing and healthful, which can be classed as economical, especially in homes where heating the oven adds little to original cost.

Creamy Rice Pudding
1 cup rice.
1/2 cup salt.
1/2 cup sugar.
2 tablespoons butter.
4 cups milk.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
Or
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg.

Wash rice and boil in water 10 minutes. Drain and add other ingredients. Pour into buttered baking dish. Place in pan of hot water and bake for 2 to 3 hours in slow oven, stirring frequently during the first hour. If desired, 1/2 cup raisins or dates may be added when pudding is nearly cooked.

Baked Beans
4 cups white beans.
1/2 pound fat salt pork.
1 tablespoon salt.
1/2 cup molasses (or more to suit taste).
1 teaspoon pepper.

Soak beans overnight. Drain. Cover with fresh water and cook slowly about 30 minutes until skins of beans begin to burst and water is almost absorbed. Place thin slice of pork in bottom of bean pot. Put beans in pot. Bury remaining pork cut in pieces in beans, leaving rind exposed. Mix molasses and seasonings with 1 cup boiling water. Pour over beans. Add enough boiling water to cover beans. Cover and bake in a very slow oven 6 to 8 hours. Remove cover during last hour to brown the beans and crisp the rind of the pork. Add boiling water as needed, during the baking.

Baked Tomato and Cheese
6 slices bread.
1 cup cheese.
2 eggs.
1 cup tomato juice.
1/2 teaspoon salt.
1/2 teaspoon pepper.
1 tablespoon minced onion.

Butter bread and cut into cubes. Cut cheese into cubes and put in alternate layers in baking dish in alternate layers. Beat eggs slightly, add tomato juice, salt, pepper and onion. Pour over bread and cheese and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 40 minutes.

Beef Loaf
1 1/2 pounds minced beef.
1 cup dry bread crumbs.
1 small onion, finely chopped.
1 cup chopped celery or cabbage.
1 egg, beaten.
1/2 cup water or tomato juice.
1/2 teaspoon mustard.
Salt and pepper to taste.

Mix beef, crumbs, onion, celery or cabbage together. Add beaten egg, water or tomato juice, and mustard. Mix well. Season to taste. Form into a loaf. Dot with dripping. Bake at 350 degrees F. for one hour, basting occasionally with a little water or tomato juice.

CONSTIPATION IS A TYRANT

Millions suffer needlessly because they eat only the kind of food that is consumed in the body—meat, potatoes, bread—and so does not form the soft "bulk" the bowels need for regular movements. Such people afflicted with constipation due to diet deficiency of "bulk," should eat Kellogg's All-Bran every day and drink plenty of water. All-Bran contributes to the needed "bulk" and is a rich source of Nature's intestinal tonic, Vitamin B. Try the All-Bran way and know the freedom that comes with being "regular."

Interesting News From Sexsmith

Vol. VII, No. 17

By R. A. MACLEOD October 12, 1939

GOOD FOR A GOOD CIGAR
Born to Mr. and Mrs. V. Spicer, Sexsmith, on Wednesday, October 4, a son. It is unfortunate that there are not more of these "blessed events," as we got a good clear out of this one.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT
Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Baker of Sexsmith wish to announce the engagement of their second daughter, Dorothy, to Carl Swidell of Two Rivers, B.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Swidell of Winnipeg. The wedding will take place in the near future.

LET SEXSMITH FOLLOW SUIT
We noticed in the last issue of The Herald-Tribune the editorial relating with interference of radio reception, also that a meeting was going to be held in Grande Prairie to endeavor to find ways and means to stop this nuisance. We believe it would be a good idea if the citizens of Sexsmith would take the same course, as to say the least it certainly is very annoying when this barrage comes on, especially when endeavoring to listen to the news or sports events.

BERT TAME IN SEXSMITH
A. E. Tame, who had a barber shop and pool room in Grande Prairie the past 19 years, has taken over the Sexsmith Pool Room and he is running a barber shop in connection.

HOLD RED CROSS MEETING
A meeting of the Red Cross Society was held last week in the office of W. H. (Roy) Roberts, at which representatives of all organizations in Sexsmith were present. The following were elected: President, Rev. E. Rande; vice-president, Mrs. W. W. McNaughton; secretary, Mrs. W. R. Roberts. Executive committee: Mrs. Weicker, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Howard, and Messrs. Webb, Nordmark, Innes, McKenzie and Roberts.

Supplies such as wool, etc., have been ordered and anyone wishing same please notify the committee. A canvass for membership will be made in the near future.

YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD ORGANIZATION MEETING

The United Church Young Peoples Society held its organization meeting last Thursday, with a nice crowd. Election of officers was held and plans made for the meetings for the winter season.

The next meeting will be in charge of devotional and social committees and will take the form of a social evening October 18. All young people are invited to enjoy this evening with the society.

On Sunday, October 22, the Young People are sponsoring the visit of Ted Miller of Edmonton, who was one of Alberta's delegates to the world's conference of Christian Youth, held at Amsterdam last summer. Mr. Miller will give a view of the conference and describe the sessions. The young people of all churches are invited to this rally, after church, Sunday evening, October 22, at 8:30.

The executive for the winter are as follows: President, Earl Foster; secretary-treasurer, Sam Kirkham; vice-president, Jacquelin Walker; literary convener, Stan Foster; devotional convener, E. Rande; citizenship, Norman Foster; social, Mrs. H. McMillan; Kean Gummer; and Bob Shaw; editors of paper, Marjorie Davis and Lorene Domstad; membership committee, Lorene Domstad, Jean Bellamy and E. Rande.

SEXSMITH LOCAL PARAGRAPHS
Mrs. Bradford and Mrs. Horner who have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Smith for the past few days, left by car for Edmonton on Wednesday last. Mrs. Smith accompanied them for a short visit. Mrs. H. McMillan of Sexsmith left on last Friday's train to attend the provincial convention of the Women's Institute, which is being held in Edmonton this week. Pat Healey is going to sell out, and expects eventually to land up in Berlin. The sale will be held at Fitzgibbon's Sales Yard at Sexsmith, Saturday, October 14. It will consist of household goods, farm machinery and implements, and some twelve head of good hinds. Everything must go, so be sure and be on hand.

HUALLEN NEWS

Holy Bonds Join Together A Well Known Couple

HUALLEN, Oct. 9.—An interesting local event took place last Sunday evening, October 8, at St. John's Lutheran Church when a well-known local couple were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The contracting parties were George, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gitzel of Wembley, and Martha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hennig of Aspen Dale. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. E. G. Wildgrube, pastor of the church. The bride, who was smartly attired in a frock of sheer white velvet and matching accessories, carried a beautiful bouquet of white pink and red geraniums with fern. Her bridesmaid was Miss Margaret Usher and Miss Lily Pittel was the maid of honor. The groom was suitably supported by Messrs. Henry Hennig and Eddie Gitzel.

As the bridal party entered the church the large congregation present sang the hymn, "The Voice That Breatheth Ever Eden."

At the conclusion of the ceremony, after signing the register, the newlyweds and their guests left for the home of the bride's parents, where a reception was tendered. Covers were laid for about one hundred guests. A long table, with decorations in pink and white, centered with a lovely three-tier wedding cake, and added down with selectable viands, presented a pretty spectacle. Supper over, to which everyone was full justice, the wedding cake was cut and distributed. Toasts to the newlyweds were then drunk and the room was called on for a speech, which he did, replying briefly, thanking everyone on his wife's and his own behalf for their good wishes and lovely gifts.

The rest of the night was spent with game, singing and social intercourse, and it was a happy gathering that dispersed in the wee small hours.

On behalf of the district we wish Mr. and Mrs. Gitzel many years of wedded bliss.

Among the distant guests present at the wedding we noted the following: Mr. and Mrs. F. Gikyon and boys of E. Glace and Mr. Henry Enders and son, Alfred, of Stony Plain.

Mrs. Gitzel has been a popular teacher in various schools she has taught in the Grande Prairie inspectorate during the past few years and is at present teaching at the Aspen Dale school.

We understand the newlyweds will take up residence on the groom's farm at Aspen Dale.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon at all Christian Science churches. The Golden Text is 1 John 7:1. One of the Scriptural citations is: "And I have seen the Lamb of God" (John 1:36). One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, is: "Paul had a clear sense of the demands of Truth upon mortals physically and spiritually, when he said: 'Present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service.' But he, who is begotten of the beliefs of the flesh and serves them, can never reach in this world the divine heights of our Lord" (p. 325).
